Chief Product Officer and Executive Vice President, Creative Cloud, Adobe – Scott Belsky: “Millions of Adobe customers use Creative Cloud applications on Windows devices every day, so we’re thrilled to work with Microsoft as they expand the Windows experience,” said Scott Belsky, executive vice president and chief product officer, Creative Cloud at Adobe. “We’re excited about making many of our applications available in the Microsoft Store to help empower creativity by more Windows users.”

Vice President, Entertainment Devices & Services, Amazon - Daniel Rausch: “We’re excited to bring Android mobile apps to Windows 11 customers across multiple genres such as social, games, education, and more by integrating the Amazon Appstore and Microsoft Store,” said Daniel Rausch, Vice President, Entertainment Devices & Services at Amazon. “And the opportunity for developers is huge – bringing hundreds of millions of new Windows customers to Amazon Appstore developers.”

President, Disney+ and ESPN+ – Michael Paull “We’re incredibly excited that Disney+ will be among the first entertainment apps featured in the new Microsoft Store and to be able to expand our platform distribution footprint for subscribers around the world,” said Michael Paull, President, Disney+ and ESPN+. “The all-new store design will deliver multiple pathways to our content, giving us the opportunity to highlight the incredible stories and franchises that exist within Disney+.”

Chief Executive Officer, Microsoft – Satya Nadella:

“Windows is the stage for the world’s creation. As a creator, every time you pick up a Windows device, it becomes a stage for your inspiration, so you can dream big and create something profound and lasting.”

“This is the first version of a new era of Windows. We are building for the next decade and beyond.”

“Windows isn’t just an operating system, it’s a platform for platform creators.”

Chief Product Officer, Microsoft – Panos Panay:

"All of this craftsmanship, from the details of design through the performance, they come together to empower you to produce and inspire you to create."

"This is what inspired us to build the Windows of tomorrow, to build you a place, a space that feels familiar, where you can create, learn, play, produce, and maybe most importantly, connect in all new ways."

"We love that the Microsoft Store continues to be more open, inviting our developers in, inviting more apps into the Store, inviting you as our customers to use any app that you love."
